DETAILED ACTION

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 12//6/2003 has been entered.

2. Claims 11,15,16,17 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 11 and 16 appears to be claiming "intention" which do not appear to be further limitation(s) of the method steps recited in the preceding claim from which they depend from and thus, the claims are vague and indefinite as to what method steps are added or further limited.

Claims 15,17 and 18 are vague and indefinite as to what the limitation "technology" contributes to the method steps or to the apparatus. It appears that this term should be deleted from the claims.

3. Claims 10,11, and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over JP 5331793 in view of Bubik et al (5,163,364).

For the purpose of this rejection the "arrangement" as recited in the preamble of the claim is assumed to mean that an apparatus is being claimed. JP 5331793 shows machine glazing on a Yankee followed by calendering the paper. It would have been obvious to employ the claimed extended nip calender as the calender in JP 5331793 since Bubik et al teaches that extended nip (shoe) calendaring does not require asymmetric moisture profile to achieve smoothening of the paper surface. The recitation of the moisture content of the web does not add patentable structure to the apparatus claim since it is a method limitation.

4. Claims 7,8,14,19 and 20 are allowed.
